

CHAPTER 47

SOCIAL WORK

Ph.D. Theses

442. HABEEBUL RAHIMAN. V. M.
Judicial Response and Victims' Perspective of Probation: A Comparative Study of Delhi and Haryana.
Supervisor : Prof. Sneha Lata Tondon
Th 15758

Abstract

Attempts to understand the judicial response and victims' perspective on probation in the Indian context. A detailed overview of the broad theoretical perspectives on probation system in Indian and abroad sets the background and rationale of the study. It empirically explores the judicial perception of probation as an alternative to imprisonment, the methods used by them to select the cases and assess the performance of the selected cases, the victims's perspective on probation system both as an alternative to imprisonment as well as a correctional device, the extent of victim's participation in the system, the perception of various stakeholders of probation both on the victim's position and participation, the lacunas and obstacles in the effective implementation of probation and put forward suggestive measures for the overall improvement of the system.

Contents

1. Introduction. 2. Conceptual Frame Work of probation. 3. Legal frame work of probation. 4. Research appraoch. 5. The judicial response on probation. 6. Victims' perspective of probation. 7. Probation: Functions and functionaries. 8. Recommendations. 9. Summary and conclusion. 10. References. 11. Bibliography.

443. PRIYADARSHNI (Pushpendra)
Value Preference Among Professional Social Workers in Organisations.
Supervisor : Prof. Sanjai Bhatt
Th 15802

Abstract

Attempts to provide theoretical framework of work values and its relation to individual effectiveness and organisational culture. Presents a fairly exhaustive review of available literature along with its analysis of the same indicating certain aspects requiring attention for further research.

Contents

1. Work values in organization. 2. Methodology. 3. Social workers and work values preferences. 4. Nature of organisation, professional practice and value preference. 5. Work value preferences and its implications for social work education and training. 6. Conclusions. 7. Bibliography

444. UNNIKRISHNAN (Praseetha)
Social Adjustment of Visually Impaired Children : A Comparative Study of Special and Mainstream Schools in Ahmedabad.
 Supervisor : Prof. Sushma Batra
 Th 15819

Abstract

Shows that adjustment is important for the overall development of children with visual impairment and how well the child adapts to the existing social situations paves way towards a better future. 'Social exclusion' deny these children various opportunities due to which 'integrated education' and recently 'inclusive education' have come up with initiatives of including children with special needs in the mainstream school system.

Contents

1. Introduction. 2. Review of literature. 3. Research methodology. 4. Demographic profile of respondents. 5. Adjustment of children with visual impairment - a comparative view. 6. Parents perspective and facilities availed. 7. case studies and focus group discussions. 8. Conclusions, recommendations and social work intervention model. 9. Bibliography.

M.Phil Dissertations

445. RAGINI KUMAR
Women Street Vendors in NCT of Delhi - A Study of Challenges Faced in their Daily Lives.
Supervisor : Prof. Sushma Batra
446. SHARMA (Aparajita)
Conflicting Interests in Education - A Comparative Study of Schools in North Delhi from the Perspective of Hegemony.
Supervisor : Dr. M. K. Jha