

CHAPTER 26

HISTORY

Doctoral Theses

231. JAMSHID NOUROOZIE
Study of the Role of Iranians in the Administration of Indian Mughals Government : From Akbar to Shah Jahan (1556-1658 A.D. / 963-1068 A.H.).
Supervisor : Prof. S. Z. H. Jafri
Th 16393

Abstract

Finds out why the Mughals did not rely on Turk, Afghans and Indian dewansalars for their government. It is quite possible that the Mughals did not have confidence in non-Iranians or they did not consider their experience sufficient and considered Iranian's intellect, wisdom and experience as more befitting to their expectations. Deals with the deterioration of position and status of Iranian dewanalars and amirs in the Mughal government before the period of Alamgir.

Contents

1. Introduction. 2. Role of Iranians in the administration of central government during the reign of Akbar, Jahangir and Shah Jahan. 3. The role of Iranians in the administration of subas during the reign of Akbar, Jahangir and Shah Jahan. 3. Conclusion. Bibliography and appendices.