Explanation about the Common Entrance Test for admission to beginners’ level courses in Chinese, Japanese and Korean (Scholastic-cum-language Aptitude Test or SLAT)

Scholastic-cum-language Aptitude Test or SLAT is the Common Entrance Test for admission to beginners’ level full time courses in Chinese, Japanese and Korean languages (CF-1, JF-1 and KF-1). The test will be of sixty minutes duration and would consist of four sections.

Section I will be a Language Aptitude Test comprising 10 multiple-choice questions. This test will be based on an imaginary language for which the rules must be understood by the candidates from the given example sentences. A list of words in the imaginary language and their equivalents in English will also be given. No special preparation is required for this test.

Section II will be a test of reasoning and will consist of 10 multiple-choice questions.

Section III will be a test of English language ability and will consist of 15 multiple-choice questions.

Section IV will be a test of general knowledge and awareness and will comprise of 15 multiple choice questions.

It is mandatory to obtain a minimum of 40% in each section separately in order to be considered for admission.

PROFILE OF THE DEPARTMENT

In 1964, the Department of East Asian Studies began as the Centre of Chinese Studies in the University of Delhi. Japanese Studies was introduced in 1969 that expanded the centre to the Department of Chinese and Japanese Studies. The incorporation of Korean Studies in 2001 resulted in the new nomenclature as the Department of East Asian Studies. The Department offers four post graduate courses: an MA in East Asian Studies, an MA in Japanese Language and Literature; an M Phil, and Ph.D in East Asian Studies. The Post-graduate courses in the Department focus on an inter-disciplinary approach to the study of the region. Language is a compulsory component of this programme and students are required to learn one of the three East Asian languages: Chinese, Japanese or Korean. This programme enables students to have a comprehensive and integrated knowledge of the subject and the language concerned.

Please note that students would not be able to obtain MA EAS/ M Phil degrees without clearing the language papers.

It may be noted that the language courses in Chinese, Japanese and Korean languages are designed for students who have already completed an undergraduate course.

Under the new Four Year Undergraduate Programme, the Department has taken the initiative to introduce Discipline II Course on East Asia with the following papers on offer:

1. The Historical Development of Chinese Civilisation
2. Pre-Modern Japan (1603-1868)
3. Colonialism and Modernity in Korea
4. China's Rise and East Asia
5. Modern Japan (1868-1973)
6. Korean Peninsula after the World War II

SCHOLARSHIPS AND AWARDS

A number of scholarships are available for students who perform well in various languages in the department. These are allotted based on the guidelines laid down. Each course will carry 100 marks, of which 30 marks are for internal assessment based on classroom participation, oral presentations, written assignments etc. The weight given to each component shall be decided and announced at the beginning of the semester by the respective teacher. Internal assessment marks that are awarded cannot be changed or improved upon in subsequent semesters. The remaining 70 marks in each paper shall be awarded on the basis of a written examination at the end of each semester. The duration of the written examination for each paper shall be three hours.

Total Credits: Each paper will carry 4 credits and students will require 64 credits to get the degree of Masters in East Asian Studies.

Span Period: The Span Period for the course is 4 years.

PROMOTION CRITERIA

1. Pass Percentage & Promotion Criteria

- The minimum marks required to pass any paper in a semester shall be 40% in Theory and 40% in Practical, wherever applicable. The student must secure 40% in the End Semester Examination and 40% in the total of End Semester Examination & Internal Assessment of the paper for both theory & practical separately.
- No student will be detained in I or III Semester on the basis of her performance in I or III Semester examination; in other words, the students will be promoted automatically from I to II and III to IV Semester.
- Students are required to have 75 percent attendance in each course to be able to appear in the final semester examination.
- Students, who appear in the 1st Semester examination but are detained from appearing in the 2nd Semester examination due to shortage of attendance, shall not be promoted to the third Semester and they shall have to be readmitted to the 2nd Semester.
- If a student is not eligible for appearing in the 1st Semester examination for any reason, she will not be eligible for admission to the 2nd Semester and will have to be readmitted to the 1st Semester of the course concerned.
- A student shall be eligible for promotion from 1st year to 2nd year of the course provided she has passed 50% of the papers of I and II Semester taken together.
- Students who do not fulfill the promotion criteria stipulated above shall be declared failed in the Part concerned. However, they shall have the option to retain the marks in the papers in which they have secured Pass marks.
- A student who has to reappear in a paper prescribed for Semester I/III may do so only in the odd Semester examinations to be held in November/December. Likewise, a student who has to reappear in a paper prescribed for Semester II/IV may do so only in the even Semester examinations to be held in April/May.

2. Reappearance in passed papers:

- A student may reappear in any theory paper prescribed for a semester, on foregoing in writing her/his previous performance in the paper/s concerned. This can be done once only in the immediate subsequent semester examination (for example, a student reappearing in paper prescribed for Semester I examination, may do so along with the immediate next Semester III examination only).

- A candidate who has cleared the papers of Part II (III & IV Semesters) may reappear in any paper of III or IV Semester only once, at the immediate subsequent examination on foregoing in writing her/his previous performance in the paper/s concerned, within the prescribed span period. (Note: The candidate of this category will not be eligible to join any higher course of study)
- In the case of reappearance in a paper, the result will be prepared on the basis of the candidate's latest performance in the examination.
- A candidate who opts to re-appear in any paper/s under the aforesaid provisions by surrendering her earlier performance but fails to re-appear in the paper/s concerned, the marks previously secured by the candidate in the paper/s she has failed to re-appear in shall be taken into account while determining her results.
- Reappearance in Practical examinations, dissertation, project and field work shall not be allowed.
- A student who reappears in a paper shall carry forward the internal assessment marks, originally awarded.

3. Division Criteria:

- A student who passes all the papers prescribed for Part I & II Examinations would be eligible for the degree. Such a student shall be categorized on the basis of the combined result of Part I & II Semesters examination as follows:-

▪ 60% or more	First Division
▪ 50% or more but less than 60%	Second Division

III. M. Phil. in East Asian Studies (Course Code: MEA-1)

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

- ✓ Good academic record with a minimum of 55% in the Masters degree of the University of Delhi or any other Indian University or an equivalent degree of a foreign university. (Eligibility criteria for SC/ST/OBC/PH will be as per University Guidelines. The minimum eligibility criteria shall not apply to teachers of the University of Delhi who hold substantive appointment before the promulgation of the M. Phil. Ordinance).
- ✓ The selection process consists of a written test (70 marks) and interview (30 marks).

The M. Phil. in East Asian Studies is a research-oriented multi-disciplinary programme. This course serves as pre-Ph.D. training for those who wish to register themselves for doctoral research in the Department. However it is a self-contained, composite course in itself. It is open to students from various social sciences as well as humanities disciplines.

Candidates will be selected on the basis of merit in accordance with the University guidelines regarding the number of students who can be admitted and the percentage of various categories of students in the total. The number of candidates admitted may vary from year to year subject to a) their performance in the test and interview, and b) the number of faculty members available to guide them.

This Programme shall be governed by the M. Phil. Committee of the Department of East Asian Studies in accordance with the stipulations formulated by it from time to time. Admission criteria for the General Category students and the SC/ST/OBC/PH students will be in keeping with the rules of the University of Delhi.

PROGRAMME STRUCTURE

The eighteen months of the M. Phil. Programme in East Asian Studies is divided into two parts. Part I consists of all the courses of Semester I and Semester II, while Part II consists of Language course and dissertation writing of Semester III. Part I accounts for 32 credits, while Part II accounts for 28 credits.

All courses (except language courses) will be of the thematic seminar pattern, in which students will be required to do written assignments, make oral presentations and participate in class discussions on a regular basis.

The schedule of the prescribed courses shall be as follows:

Part I, Semester I

Students shall indicate their preference for specializing in Chinese Studies / Japanese Studies / Korean Studies at the time of applying for admission to the Programme. The Department will try to accommodate their preference as far as possible depending on the availability of seats.

NOTE: Four courses are compulsory. These are Language, Research Methodology and two more out of the list mentioned. Further, the teachers of the Department may suggest that a student attend the lectures for additional courses, if in their opinion it will benefit the concerned student. However, class attendance in these additional recommended courses (which are not compulsory) does not mean that the transcript will mention these courses. These are only for the gaining of additional knowledge that will benefit the students.

Ordinance XV(D)

University of Delhi's Policy on Sexual Harassment (Ordinance XV(D): Prohibition of and Punishment for Sexual Harassment)

- The University of Delhi is committed to creating and maintaining a community in which students, teachers and non-teaching staff can work together in an environment free of violence, harassment, exploitation and intimidation. This includes all forms of gender violence, sexual harassment and discrimination on the basis of sex/gender. Every member of the University community should be aware that while the University is committed to the right to freedom of expression and association, it strongly supports gender equality and opposes any form of gender discrimination and violence.
- Complaints of sexual harassment/violation of gender equality shall be dealt with by the University in accordance with the provisions contained in the above mentioned ordinance.

IMPORTANT NOTICES FOR ALL STUDENTS

- Delhi University is partnering with Delhi Police and World Lung Foundation – South Asia in promoting a tobacco free environment. As a step in that direction, smoking is banned in the Department of East Asian Studies.
- The Department has a zero tolerance policy towards ragging and is bound by the University's policies on ragging.
- Students may note that plagiarism in any form is not tolerated.
- Students pursuing various courses in Chinese, Japanese and Korean languages in this department are cautioned against unauthorized lucrative offers from outside agencies with respect to study trips or visits to China or Japan or Korea. The department shall not be responsible for any fraudulent practice by any such unauthorized agency or person, who indulges in luring innocent students with temptations of foreign trips or tours.
