

Thank you for joining our community.

Dear Sir/Ma'am,

This is a confirmation of University of Delhi's access to Africa Commons platform. On behalf of the Coherent Digital team, we sincerely appreciate the support of your library. Learn more about this project from our expert advisory board.

Instant access for your library

Access for your community is active starting on June 01, 2024 12:00 AM at the following link:

<https://africacommons.net/modules/history-and-culture/>

Please take a moment to review some important information regarding your access.

How we authenticate our users

We believe in making things easy. When a user registers with an institutional email address (an email address that matches your domain), the user will be connected automatically to the module with full access from onsite or off-campus locations.

We also support TCP/IP authentication, ExProzy, and Shibboleth. To learn more about our four frictionless access methods, click below.

Librarian resources

Please contact your account representative for a current for a current bibliography of History and Culture on Africa Commons. We are continually making updates as the collection expands.

We support COUNTER reporting to track usage. To access your organization's SUSHI credentials, please contact a member of our team. We're working to make access to this information seamless through our new administrative portal, set to go live in the coming months. We are here to support you in the meantime.

Coherent Digital takes accessibility seriously. Please see our VPAT for details:

Share the news with your organization.

To get you started, here's a 3-minute video introducing the Commons platform and its features, including List Builder, which allows you to save the publications and reports you discover in private, institutional, or public lists that you create . We love this feature so much, it has its own 2-minute video.

Interested in scheduling a training demonstration of Africa Commons with your faculty members, subject librarians, and researchers? Our editorial and engagement team are eager to help.

And finally, you'll want to add your new Coherent Digital resources to your online list of available databases. Here are ready-to-paste short descriptions:
